May Festival Benefit For Garfield Hospital

The May festival for the benefit of Garfield Hospital, to be given by the Ladies' Aid on the grounds of the hospital, Friday, May 20, promises many attractive features. Drama of Washington To Be Presented Here

A Washington play is to be presented next week, the work of a Washington dramatist. It mirrors Washington life and will be played principally by Washington residents. It is a comedy dealing with society in the National Capital and introduces many types familiar to those who know the life that centers here.

Under the title, "A Marriageable Mother," Mrs. C. C. Calhoun has written a clever drama that is to be beautifully staged. It will be produced at the Belasco Theater May 25, and will be played three nights for the benefit of various philanthropies. The community service will receive the proceeds of the first night, a bed for the Women's Welfare, will be maintained by the money realized May 26 and the fund for the George Washington memorial, in which Mrs. Henry F. Dimock is so much interested, will receive the box receipts of the last evening, May 27.

Mrs. Calhoun will appear in the title role of Mrs. Pace, while the other important women's parts will be played by Mrs. George Barnett, Mrs. John Fremont and Miss Pauline Edington, a New York actress. Miss Katherine Fritchard will play Bobby, the young son of the widow who is the marriageable mother. The men's parts have been assigned to Capt. Calhoun, who will be seen as Judge Temple, a Virginian; Marquis Buena Vista, who will give a characterization of an attaché of the French embassy; Robert Knox, who will be an attaché of the Italian embassy; Foxhall Daingerfield, who will be an attaché of the Polish embassy; and George Healey of the Provincetown Players, who will be Col. McPherson, secretary of the British embassy. Murray Bennett of the Provincetown Players will have a strong character part. Edward Truheim, George Langley and a number of other men are in the cast. John Hoffman will direct the play, which is said to have much brilliant dialogue and to be built around a really dramatic plot.

Rehearsals have been carried on with such success that a smooth performance is assured.

It is understood that many of the boxes for the three performances have been sold and a number of theater parties have been planned.
